Ini cinta yang sulit. Kau dan aku ditakdirkan tak saling memiliki. Aku tak bisa mencintaimu seperti yang aku mau. Namun, ketika dia hadir dalam hidupmu—di antara kita—aku pun sadar kebahagiaanmu pelan-pelan akan memudar. Betapa tidak, dia bisa memberimu cinta dan perhatian. Menggenggam tanganmu hingga akhirnya kau terlelap di sisinya. Dia melakukan semua yang ingin aku berikan kepadamu. Dan hari ini, aku memandangi senja pertama yang kunikmati tanpa dirimu. Aku belajar berbahagia untukmu. Dia yang paling tepat. Aku tahu itu—tapi..., bagaimana denganku? Bagaimana caraku bahagia tanpa dirimu? -GagasMedia-

This book records and examines in detail for the first time both the modern and vernacular architecture of the Sultanate of Oman. The Sultanate's landscapes are striking in their contrasts - from the powerful, primary blues and greens of the country's lush oases and the Indian Ocean that laps at its shores, to its arid deserts and rugged mountains. There is a primordial quality in the art of its architecture, imbuing it with a spirit of minimalism and austerity, qualities which have defined the extent and form of architectural construction and urban growth, from the smallest vernacular towns of the interior and coastal regions, to the impressive modern buildings of the Sultanate's capital, Muscat. To date, little of this rich and varied architecture has been documented. With a combination of her own original research based on extensive fieldwork and surveys, and previously unpublished drawings, plans, illustrations and surveys from architects working in Oman, coupled with first-hand accounts from local master builders, Dr Damluji has succeeded in compiling the most definitive work so far on the architecture of the Sultanate. By investigating traditional and modern building processes, urban planning and design concepts, and with thorough contributions from other specialists, Dr Damluji analyses, from an architectural viewpoint, the extent of Oman's success compared with many other developing countries in maintaining its rich cultural heritage in the face of the demands necessitated by a rapidly changing urban landscape. Illustrated with over 1000 of the author's own colour photographs and some 200 plans and elevations, and with a foreword by HRH The Prince of Wales, the book represents an invaluable record of the architecture of an immensely diverse and fascinating country. Begitu banyak kata seandainya berkeliaran di kepala Abel. Ia memang pernah menciptakan kesalahpahaman itu di masa lalu, membuat hubungannya dengan Kinar menjadi kian sulit diperbaiki. Ditambah lagi, Kinar kini tak lagi sendiri. Di jari manisnya, telah tersemat cincin pertunangan. Haruskah Abel percaya pada pendapat kebanyakan orang bahwa kesempatan tidak akan datang dua kali? Manusia bisa bahagia, salah satunya jika berada di samping orang yang mencintai dan dicintainya. *** Aku pernah mendengar bahwa salah satu hal yang paling berharga di dunia ini adalah 'kesempatan kedua'. Sebagian orang menyia-nyiakannya, sebagian orang tak menyadarinya, sisanya mungkin mereka yang bisa memanfaatkan kesempatan kedua itu dengan seharusnya. Dalam kisah ini, diperlihatkan bahwa kesempatan kedua adalah sesuatu yang istimewa dan tidak seharusnya terabaikan. (Aditia Yudis, penulis Biru pada Januari) Buku persembahan penerbit mediaPressindoGroup This is the first study to examine in detail ritual objects known as 'Lamak', a fascinating and unique form of ephemeral material culture which is a prominent feature of Balinese creativity. Mosaicism is a powerful biologic concept, originally developed from studying plants and animals. All cutaneous neoplasms, both benign and malignant, reflect mosaicism, which is the necessary basis to explain numerous human skin disorders. For example, various mosaic patterns visualize the embryonic development of human skin and X-linked skin disorders explain why women live longer than men, and so on. This book presents, for the first time, a comprehensive overview on the strikingly manifold patterns and peculiarities of mosaic skin disorders. This reader-friendly structured and straightforward publication will help the dermatologist to understand the underlying molecular mechanisms of skin disorders in order to further improve the treatment outcome. Kal penakluk wanita. Agni tak melirikinya. Kal peselancar seksi yang memesonakan. Agni merasa Kal terlalu muda. Ia tak ingin cinta remaja. Agni bahkan tak terpikir untuk jatuh cinta lagi. Hidupnya sudah terasa penuh—juga penat—diisi dengan kesibukan bekerja dan membesarkan Hito, putranya. Namun, Kal tak memberinya pilihan selain membiarkannya di dalam hidupnya; terpaksa meladeni keusilannya, memalingkan wajah ketika dia bertelanjang dada seenaknya..., dan setengah mati menahan emosi setiap kali Kal mencoba merayunya. Semakin mengenal Kal, Agni yakin laki-laki itu sudah biasa membuat lawan jenisnya patah hati. Bukan mustahil Agni akan jadi korban selanjutnya. Dia merasa perlu menjaga hatinya dari Kal—dan dari kemungkinan tragedi lama terulang lagi. Agni merasa dirinya bukan orang yang kuat. Satu-satunya cara untuk tidak patah hati adalah menghindari jatuh cinta sepenuhnya. Untuk sementara waktu, dirinya tersenyum penuh kemenangan. Agni sanggup menutup mata dari segala yang tak ingin dia lihat. Namun ternyata dia tak bisa menutup hati dari orang yang membuatnya kembali merasakan cinta. Dan memang bukan begitu juga caranya; Agni harus memaafkan supaya bisa melupakan luka lama. Melupakan... supaya bisa jatuh cinta lagi. Buku persembahkan penebrit Roro Raya Sejahtera (Twigora) This volume is a compendium of selected plant species of ethnobotanical value to the highland communities of popular Southeast Asia. "Traditional" knowledge held by local communities on their resources is always in flux and adapting to a quickly changing environment. New plants find their entry into the local pharmacopoeias, while existing ones maybe removed. Likewise, various local communities might find the same plant useful for completely different purposes. While compiling information on the species, authors have taken great care to ensure that the dynamic nature of ethnobotanical knowledge is represented adequately. Special emphasis has also been given to cultural value of species to the local communities in the region. The field (and thus the market) of ethnobotany and ethnopharmacology has grown considerably in recent years. Student interest is on the rise, attendance at professional conferences has grown steadily, and the number of professionals calling themselves ethnobotanists has increased significantly (the various societies (Society for Economic Botany, International Society of Ethnopharmacology, Society of Ethnobiology, International Society for Ethnobiology, and many regional and national societies in the field currently have thousands of members). The objective of this new Major Reference Work on Ethnobotany of Mountain Regions of Southeast Asia is to take advantage of the increasing international interest and scholarship on highland landscapes and communities. While ethnobotanical studies are now available from many regions of the world, no comprehensive encyclopedic volume on the highlands of popular SE Asia is available in the market. We include the best and latest research on a full range of descriptive, methodological, theoretical, and applied research on the most important plants for the region. Scholars in plant sciences worldwide will also be interested in the dedicated website for this volume and its dynamic content. "Given the absence of international guidelines on the joint management and control of TB and diabetes, the World Health Organization (WHO) and the International Union Against Tuberculosis and Lung Disease (the Union) identified key questions to be answered and commissioned systematic reviews of studies addressing those questions. A series of expert consultations were organized to assess the findings of the systematic reviews and a guideline group was established to develop this provisional collaborative framework. The framework aims to guide national programmes, clinicians and others engaged in care of patients and prevention and control of diabetes and TB on how to establish a coordinated response to both diseases, at organizational and clinical levels. The framework is based on evidence collated from systematic reviews and existing guidelines on the diagnosis and management of TB and diabetes. The systematic reviews confirmed the weak evidence base for the effectiveness and cost-effectiveness of collaborative interventions. The framework is therefore provisional; several of its recommendations are provisional pending better evidence. In order to provide advice on how to fill the knowledge gaps, the framework includes a list of priority research areas."--Page vii-viii.

Buku ini merupakan referensi dari hasil Hibah Penelitian Dasar Kompetitif Kemendikbud Ristek Dikti terkait Nomophobia dan faktor-faktor yang memengaruhinya. Buku ini menjelaskan variabel seperti Kontrol Diri, Regulasi Emosi, Kebermaknaan Spiritual, Kesepian, dan Intensitas Penggunaan Telepon Pintar terhadap Nomophobia. Buku ini ditujukan khususnya kepada para peneliti, dosen, guru, dan mahasiswa yang tertarik meneliti fenomena nomophobia ini. Kemajuan teknologi memberikan efek yang terus berubah pada gaya hidup masyarakat. Misalnya, teknologi seluler telah meningkatkan akses individu ke informasi secara global sejak layanan nirkabel tersedia bagi masyarakat umum (King et al., 2013; Lee et al., 2014). Penggunaan tek-nologi yang sering juga memperkuat kebiasaan memeriksa teks dan info media sosial. Pola penggunaan smartphone yang berlebihan ini memiliki potensi konsekuensi negatif jangka pendek, seperti gangguan belajar di kelas dan peningkatan tingkat kecemasan (Cheever et al., 2014; Dietz dan Henrich, 2014; Lee dkk., 2017; Mendoza dkk., 2018; Ravizza dkk., 2014; Ruston dkk., 2017; Thornton et al., 2014). Lebih penting lagi, perkembangan teknologi ini juga memiliki potensi konsekuensi jangka panjang dengan memicu munculnya gangguan kepribadian, bahkan dapat memperburuk gangguan kepribadian yang ada (misalnya, obsesif-kompulsif), kecemasan interaksi sosial, dan kecanduan internet atau smartphone (Bragazzi dan Del Puente, 2014). Masalah ini telah mendorong munculnya beberapa metode baru untuk menilai pengaruh teknologi pada perilaku (Bragazzi dan Del Puente, 2014; Lin et al., 2014; Yildirim dan Correia, 2015; Yildirim et al., 2016). Data terbaru dari Pew Internet dan American Life Project menemukan bahwa sekitar 91% individu di Amerika Serikat memiliki dan sering menggunakan smartphone (Smith dan Page, 2015). Penggunaan smart-phone yang sering (dan mungkin kompulsif) berkorelasi positif dengan kecanduan smartphone, kecemasan, depresi, dan stres (Bianchi dan Phillips, 2005; Billieux et al., 2015; Lee et al., 2014; Lin dkk., 2014; Nikhita dkk., 2015; Roberts dan Pirog, 2013; Takao dkk., 2009; Thom ee et al., 2011). Penggunaan smartphone yang berlebihan telah memunculkan masalah sosial, dan kemungkinan ke depannya akan menjadi lebih serius akibat popularitasnya yang semakin meningkat. Masalah baru yang muncul dikenali sebagai kecemasan dan ketakutan tanpa smartphone yang dapat memengaruhi kesejahteraan psikologis individu yang disebut sebagai nomophobia (Bragazzi dan Del Puente, 2014; Dixit et al., 2010; King et al., 2010; King et al., 2013; Raja dkk., 2014; Lee dkk., 2014; Yildirim dan Correia, 2015; Yildirim dkk., 2016). Nomophobia adalah singkatan dari "no mobile phone phobia" yang berasal dari penggunaan smartphone berlebihan. Individu yang memiliki tingkat nomophobia tinggi cenderung memeriksa pesan teks atau media sosial secara berlebihan dan kesulitan memperhatikan tugas sehari-hari karena takut kehilangan keterhubungan dan/atau kemampuan untuk mengakses informasi (Yildirim dan Correia, 2015; Yildirim et al., 2016). This series provides a rich resource of information with maximum impact. 1000 facts are covered by 100 topics, each with 10 key points that provide a simple but memorable handle on the subject. Fascinating information panels as well as extended captions amplify this quick-fire approach. "Following on the successes of two previous dictionary projects, the CRC World Dictionary of Plant Names and the CRC World Dictionary of the Grasses, Umberto Quattrocchi has undertaken this dictionary of economically important plants.... He has done for these plants what was so admirably done in his other works—brought the vast and scattered literature on plant names, and in this case, too, their uses, into coherent order so that the inquisitive scholar can get a foothold." —From the Foreword, Donald H. Pfister, Harvard University and Harvard University Herbaria, Cambridge, Massachusetts The CRC World Dictionary of Medicinal and Poisonous Plants: Common Names, Scientific Names, Eponyms, Synonyms, and Etymology provides the starting point for better access to data on plants used around the world in medicine, food, and cultural practices. The material found in the five volumes has been painstakingly gathered from papers of general interest, reports and records, taxonomic revisions, field studies, herbaria and herbarium collections, notes, monographs, pamphlets, botanical literature, and literature tout court. It includes sources available at various natural history libraries, floras and standard flora works, local floras and local histories, nomenclatural histories, and the International Code of Botanical Nomenclature. Much more than a dictionary, the book provides the names of thousands of genera and species of economically important plants, concise summaries of plant properties, and appropriate observations about medicinal uses. Drawing from a tremendous range of primary and secondary sources, it is an indispensable time-saving guide for all those involved with botany, herbal medicine, pharmacognosy, toxicology, medicinal and natural product chemistry, and agriculture. Mortality and morbidity of intracerebral haemorrhage (ICH) is excessively high, and the case fatality rate has not improved in the last decades. Although surgery for ICH can be life-saving, no positive effect on functional outcome has been found in large cohorts of ICH patients. Increased understanding of the pathophysiology of ICH is needed to develop improved treatment strategies. In 17 ICH patients, paired cerebral microdialysis (CMD) catheters were inserted in the perihemorrhagic zone (PHZ) and in normal uninjured cortex at time of surgery. Despite normalisation of cerebral blood flow, a persistent metabolic crisis indicative of mitochondrial dysfunction was detected in the PHZ. This metabolic pattern was not observed in the uninjured cortex. CMD was also used to sample proteins for proteomic analysis. A distinct proteome profile that changed over time was found in the PHZ when compared to the seemingly normal, uninjured cortex. However, protein adsorption to CMD membranes, which may interfere with concentration measurements, was substantial. Surgical treatment of 578 ICH patients was analysed in a nation-wide retrospective multi-centre study in Sweden over five years. Patients selected for surgery had similar age, pre-operative level of consciousness and co-morbidity profiles, but ICH volume and the proportion of deep-seated ICH differed among the six neurosurgical centres. Furthermore, there was variability in the post-operative care, including the use and duration of intracranial pressure monitoring, cerebrospinal fluid drainage and mechanical ventilation. In conclusion, the results of this thesis show that: (i) Despite surgical removal of an ICH a metabolic crisis caused by mitochondrial dysfunction, a potential future therapeutic target, persists in the perihemorrhagic zone. (ii-iii) CMD is a valuable tool in ICH research for sampling novel biomarkers using proteomics, which may aid in the development of improved therapeutic interventions. However, caveats of the technique, such as protein adsorption to the CMD membrane, must be considered. (iv) The nation-wide study illustrates similar clinical features in patients selected for ICH surgery, but substantial variability in ICH volume and location as well as neurocritical care strategies among Swedish neurosurgical centres.

Development of refined clinical guidelines may reduce such intercentre variability and lead to improved functional outcome for ICH patients.
