Manuale Exorcistarum, Ac Parochorum, Hoc Est Tractatus De Curatione, Ac Protectione Divina:

In Quo Reprobatis Erroribus, Verus, Certus, Securus & Evangelicus Eiiciendi Daemones. Traditur. L'unico manuale di giornalismo investigativo in Italia Ferri del mestiere, furberie, consigli, motti celebri e quant'altro a disposizione di tutti coloro che vogliono approfondire il terzo mestiere pi antico del mondo... (EDIZIONE ECONOMICA) One hundred typographic pages are exhibited in this book, consisting of alphabets and quotations printed in various type styles. The quotations selected by the author concern types and printing, are from the past and the present, and are in 16 languages (translations are provided). Hermann Zapf is a noted type designer and he himself originally devised many of the type faces used here. Other faces were taken from the fonts of the Stempel foundry in Frankfurt/Main and historic faces came from that foundry's archives. The author has also designed the page layouts, choosing for this manual a horizontal format. The purpose of the manual is "to show the myriad possibilities of the expressiveness and beauty of type, whether individually or in massed text, by the use of purely typographic means." The original English edition of this work was limited to 1000 copies. In making it available to a larger audience, Paul Standard's comment, printed in the original, becomes more pertinent still: "In a world grown noisy and clamorous, reading remains among the very few quiet pleasures left to man. The present work hopes to be considered an attempt to bring a body of critical and expository comment to the widest circle of readers—comment upon every contributory element in bookmaking and printing generally, upon the design of letter forms and their disposition on the page. The very sight of so many different languages on these successive pages is itself a humanizing experience, suggesting as it does a striving for unity while preserving linguistic diversity by means of the printer's art." This "critical and expository comment" has been culled from a wide international range of writers, including both masters of literature and masters of the art of printing. La 4e de couverture indique : "Le texte présenté ici date de la fin du XVe siècle. Le Manuale Sclarium, a été écrit par un auteur inconnu sous forme de dialogues. Depuis l'Antiquité, bien des discussions et des conversations ont été écrites. Ce genre littéraire est particulièrement utilisé pour les traités pédagogiques : dialogues entre un père et son fils, un maître et son élève, un roi et son héritier, etc . Mais les dialogues entre deux jeunes gens, moines ou étudiants, sont bien plus rares. On connaît, pour le IXe siècle, celui qu'a écrit Alcuin qui présente deux jeunes disciples, un franc et un saxon qui conversent à propos de la grammaire. Au XIe siècle, le "Colloque" d'Aelfric Bata écrit un dialogue entre quelques jeunes moines anglo-saxons. Pour le siècle suivant, nous n'avons pas de dialogue entre jeunes gens, avant ce Manuale Scolarium. Ce texte est un témoignage vivant de la vie des étudiants à l'université d'Heidelberg et offre un regard sur les relations des étudiants entre eux et sur leur appréciation de la vie universitaire." Il Manuale di Epitteto - redatto dal suo discepolo Arriano - racchiude il nocciolo della dottrina etica dello stoicismo. Wherein geography is rectify'd, by Reforming the old maps according to the modern observations. And the coasts of all countries are laid down, agreeable to Mr. Edmund Halley's Own Map. Which is not done in any before extant.
